Notes:

All measurements and references must be taken from the original Ember. The main changes involve the jets and sizes. All seating positions must be centered and equidistant. Water outlets can be placed anywhere on the lower wall, as long as they are aesthetically pleasing if necessary. This document is not a technical drawing; it serves only as a reference to indicate the desired changes. Measurements and the general design are subject to necessary variations to simplify functionality or reduce costs. Everything not explicitly detailed remains unchanged from the original.
